Cats and Dogs

Some people say that dogs are for men and cats are for women. I just happen to have both, and am very proud of them.

Don't get me wrong I like cats, but I like big animals like dogs. Dogs are supposedly an emotionally shallow animal, but I don't think they are at all.

With cats it is easier to travel with unless you have a small dog. If you have a big dog and you are planning on traveling by vehicle I would recommend you take a truck.

Dogs tend to protect their master or masters, but for cats unfortunately it's kind of hard to do that. I think that cats could protect their owner or owners if they really tried.

Cats are easier to snuggle with on the couch, dogs on the other hand are harder because they are larger unless you have a little dog.

With dogs it is easier to go to the park to play

Fetch, but with cats it is hard, unless your cat likes to carry a ball around and walk on a leash.

Cats don't usually shed very much. Most dogs tend to shed before winter and summer.

Big dogs need a lot of food, and most of the time cats can take care of themselves.

Even though I am more of a dog person I am still really attached to my dog and both of my cats, and would be devastated if anything were to happen to anyone of them.
